This is an example of a wireframe for a collaborative marketplace of services based on daily time management. Cocorico is particularly well suited to various professions, including services and mobility.

For the reminder: The Wireframe consists in creating a schema defining the areas of a website and its layout. Do not take into account texts that are fictitious. Also, the Wireframe does not bring notions of color, harmony, or detail of the elements. It is not the design itself, the Wireframe is used to define the layout of the elements in your website.
